RAIN AND WIND STORM.

Sweeps the City and Different Portions of the County.

TREES BLOWN DOWN.

Telephone Connection Broken and Standing Wheat Injured.

An electric rain and wind storm struck the city Sunday afternoon at 5:30. Though attended with slight damage, the fall in temperature was a great relief from the intense heat that had prevailed during the day. Sunday was a record breaker for the year, the mercury having climbed the tube to the one hundred mark. Owing to the high temperature the attendance at the churches was small and the regular night services were declared off at most churches when the announcements were read from the pulpits in the morning.

Shade and fruit trees were blown down in different parts of the city, while standing wheat in many sections of the county was blown down, and that which had already been cut and shocked was literally scattered to the four winds. The storm was not general throughout the county, the southern portion having neither rain or wind. Like the rain of the previous Sunday, there was not enough to lay the dust just beyond the city limits.

The Pembroke section had no rain and very little wind. West of town about five miles out the rainfall was very heavy, flooding low lands and swelling streams beyond fording and carrying away some fencing.

The "trouble department" of the Cumberland Telephone Co. had as much as it could attend to all day yesterday. Broken connections were constantly reported and reconnected as rapidly as possible. Manager Russell stated that his lines along the Clarksville, Lafayette, Julian and Gracey roads suffered considerably by the lines being broken by falling limbs. He promptly put a force at work on those roads and expected to have all damages repaired by Monday night.

The Home Telephone Co. also had its share of damage to wires, but it expected to have everything in working order by noon yesterday.

The Electric Light Co. reports its damage hardly worth mentioning, though a few transformers were burned out and lines broken at different points.

Mrs. Lou V. Adams, whose farm is on the Palmyra road, about three miles from the city, had a valuable Jersey cow killed by lightning.

Mr. St. Clair Leavell, who is running a dairy, was in a survey with his wife out where his cows are pastured, when a large tree was blown down, falling within a few feet of him.

At the boarding house of Mrs. M. Long, on West Seventh street, the top of a chimney was blown down even with the roof. Mrs. Stonewall Morris lost a canary bird by the wind blowing the bottom out of its cage. Monday morning the bird was heard about the house, but was caught by a cat. Mrs. Morris had refused $25 for her pet.

Several awnings were blown down, the Planters Hardware Co. suffering most, as they have two store rooms. The large awning in front of the John Moayan store was also torn away by the wind.

W. H. Cummings & Son sustained a slight loss by having the fence at one of their warehouses leveled to the ground.

Weather Observer W. F. Randle says that an inch of rain fell during the storm, which lasted fifty minutes. Saturday the government thermometer registered 95 degrees.

Miss Nickie Hines, of Russellville, is visiting Miss Lillian Gary.

He was born at Santo Domingo in 1836, and came of a Spanish family. He began life as a cavalry officer in the Spanish army. He joined the patriots in the insurrection of 1868, and fought ten years, being the Cuban Commander-in-Chief from 1873 to 1878. As a guerrilla commander he was unexcelled.

Difficult Operation.

Dr. A. H. Edwards, assisted by Dr. Thomas, did a pretty operation Friday afternoon on W. M. Littlejohn, of Rock Castle, Ky. Mr. Littlejohn had one eye blown out with powder while blasting in an ore mine in Lyon county three months ago. The lids had grown down over the other eye and destroyed its sight. The doctors cut the lids apart and dissected them from the ball, which restored sight in part.

GRAND JURY RECONVENES.

Adjourned a Week for Harvest Season.

MISS BRASHER WINS.

W. H. Taylor Case Proved to be a Hard Fought Contest.

The grand jury, after an adjournment of a week, reconvened yesterday, and will probably be in session all this week. Very few bills have yet been returned in open court, but a good sized batch is expected at any time.

In the case of John L. Brasher, guardian for his daughter, Annie May Brasher, against the Tennessee Central railroad company for damages, for being put off at the wrong station, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for $300. This is the second trial of the case, the first verdict having been for $500, which was set aside on account of being excessive. Miss Brasher had paid her fare to Chester, on said road, it being near where she was teaching school in April, 1904, but the conductor got confused about the stations and insisted that she should get off at Masonville, about three miles North of Chester, and the young lady had to walk and carry a heavy valise about two miles, resulting in physical injury as well as humiliation. The plaintiff was represented by Judge Bush and Mr. L. Yonts.

The case of the commonwealth for the use and benefit of W. H. Taylor against L. A. Morris and the Federal Union Surety Company for $10,000 damages, went on trial Saturday and was given to the jury at 11:30 yesterday. Plaintiff alleged that he was assaulted by Morris at the L. & N. depot, while the latter was a member of the local police force and that the assault was unprovoked.

Died for His Son.

T. Elliot Chafin's body, badly mutilated by four trains, was found near Jeffersonville, explaining his continued absence from his family in Louisville. In looking for his absent son he himself became lost and wandered to his death.

Death of Child.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hayes, East Fourth street, died Saturday night. He was only one year old, and died of summer complaint. He was buried in Hopewell cemetery Sunday afternoon.

CONFERENCE AT WASHINGTON

Finally Determined Upon by Both Sides of Eastern Conflict.

TRIUMPH FOR AMERICA

Events Leading up to Big Battle if Not Stopped by Peace.

Washington, D. C., June 19.—Russia has finally accepted Washington as a meeting place of the Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries, the Foreign Office, at the personal direction of the Emperor, having waived its request for reconsideration, as the Emperor desires to give the fullest and fairest opportunity to President Roosevelt's proposal. The result is looked upon as a triumph for American diplomacy. The Gazette intimates that Russia may not balk at an indemnity, though nothing is yet known as to Japan's terms. The operations in Manchuria appear to be leading up to a big engagement.

Reports from the Japanese armies in Manchuria state that steady advances are being made. Gen. Nishchenko has occupied Liao Yang Wopeng, the Russians fleeing in disorder. The Russian losses are said to have been heavy.

Russia and Japan have each decided tentatively to appoint three plenipotentiaries to the Washington peace conference. It is understood that M. Nelidoff has accepted the chairmanship of the Russian delegation. If Marquis Ito is unable to accept, it is believed that Field Marshal Yamagata will be designated as the ranking Japanese plenipotentiary. It is expected that the conference will convene about the middle of August. It is expected that the President will suggest the advisability of a limited truce and that this suggestion will be accepted.

BELL'S ADDITION

Increased by 13 Acres More of Lots.

John H. Bell, Jr., has bought the 13 acres of ground situated between his recent purchase and G. B. Underwood's on south Virginia Street, and added it to his contemplated addition to the South side. He now has one of the finest residence properties near the city and will plat it and put 93 fine lots on the market. The property was bought from the Knight estate and it is the track considered last spring for a new ball park. It lies just outside the city limits. The price was private.

PADUCAH'S COW LAW.

New Ordinance Went Into Effect Last Week.

The new anti-cow law went into effect in Paducah Saturday and the News-Democrat of Sunday contained this ringing editorial:

"By the publication today of the ordinance prohibiting cows from coming at large on the streets of Paducah, the last step is taken in the enactment of that measure into law. Saturday it was signed by His Honor, David A. Yeager.

La Reine est Morte.

The end of the long sovereignty of Queen Cow is accomplished and Paducah is no more a village. It is a city.

Now: Down with the Fences! Sow grass! Plant flowers! Beautify the city!

There is no more excuse for untidiness. The cow law will be enforced. Never have a fear of that. It has public opinion back of it and a law with that force behind it is always enforced.

When another June is come there should not be a fenced-in yard in Paducah. There should not be one bare lawn. There should not be a lawn without its flower bed. There should not be a home without its pretty shrubbery. These things are cheap. They are vital.

A beautiful home means a beautiful family. There is no greater influence for good than a well-kept lawn and flower garden, however small they may be. There is practically no outlay required in money and the care of these things should be a delightful recreation.

Down with the ugly fences. Let there be flowers. Let there be grass."

R., and who lives at 402 East 7th street, says: "I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and so highly recommended by persons who had used them that I went to Thomas & Trahern's drug store, procured a box and gave them a thorough trial. I had suffered for a long time with a heavy pain across the small of my back and there followed a weakness of the kidneys which was exasperating especially at night. I tried various remedies, but none of them gave anything like as satisfactory results as I obtained from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. I am pleased to say that they brought me great relief. I have recommended the pills and will continue to do so to all my friends and acquaintances."

BABY TIMBER WOLVES

PIERCE FATHER SOMETIMES DEVOURS HIS INFANTS.

Visit to Zoological Garden—Baby Wolves in an Upper Berth—Medicine Dropper and Nursing Bottle.

I was standing in front of the wolf cage in a big zoological garden, when the quiet voice of a keeper assisted my curiosity.

"Look out there, sir! That big timber wolf in the last cage is a devil; if you put your hand within reach, he'll have your fingers off before you know it. He killed and ate two of his own cubs, the other day, and since then, when a wolf in the next cage took a paw through the bars, that fellow chewed it off. That is the father of those cubs you've come for, and I guess they're all wolf; that is all that's left of them."

"All that's left of them," proved to be four; their amiable father had devoured two before he was removed. We went round to look at the ladies, and found them lying all together in a nest in a corner of their den; just one bunch of gray fur. Their mother, an alert-looking creature, but not nearly so formidable as her mate, watched us anxiously as we looked her youngsters over. Then I went to attend to some other matters, and when I returned, the little wolves were all together in a box covered with wire netting and ready for their long railroad journey to my home in New Hampshire. Of course, the infants would have to be fed frequently en route, so the first thing I do was to get a supply of milk, and the necessary "dropper" and baby's bottle.

I was going by way of Boston, and my train started from the Grand Central station, New York, at 11 p. m. I reached Forty-second street at 10:55, too late to get anything but an upper berth, and started out on the platform. The watchful ticket puncher threw a glance of his eagle eye at the big box containing my wolves, but, as the netting was hidden beneath a cloth, he never suspected livestock. The size of the box, however, held his attention, and he remarked, rather severely: "You'll have to put that in your berth; there's no room for a box of that size in the aisle." A moment later I stepped on the train, just as it pulled out of the station. The porter was busy making up a berth, so I set my box down and waited. Waiting with me was a good-natured looking fellow with whom I exchanged a few words, and who happened to have the berth below my own. Presently the little captives, getting hungry, no doubt, began to scratch on the side of their box.

"Hello!" said the man. "What have you got there?"

"Tough!" I answered, putting my fingers to my lips. "Tomato plants."

"Ah! I thought so by the sound," he replied. "Well, as I have the berth below yours, I hope they won't grow through the side of the box before morning."

When the porter came, I let him take my bag and a few other traps. The box I handled myself, and swung it up into the berth, following as fast as I could, and keeping up a running fire of conversation with the porter, to drown the whines and scratches of the babies, who were growing more hungry every moment. At last he was gone, and I drew the drapery of my couch around me, without, however, lying down to pleasant dreams. The instant I took the cover from the box, the wolf puppies scrambled out, and fairly besieged me, whining with all their might. In their eagerness for food, two of them crawled to the very edge of the berth, and I just saved them from tumbling over into the aisle by snatching them back by their tails. But, hungry as they were, they showed no knowledge of either medicine-droppers or nursing bottles, and I had a warm time of it before I succeeded in pumping into my charges enough milk to last them until morning. In the excitement, I fear we made more noise than I had been aware of, and just as I was pumping the milk back into the box, the curtains were drawn apart, and a black face appeared.

"What's de trouble, suh? Ah you sick, suh?"

"No, just a little tired, that's all," and as his eye rested on the face of one of the young wolves, which indirectly peered its nose over the edge of the box, I added, "Here's something for your trouble, and if I'm not disturbed again to-night, there'll be another for you in the morning."

"A right, suh," and, showing ivory from ear to ear, he drew the curtains close together and disappeared down the dimly lit aisle.

The suit of Frank N. Gunther against the Central Trust company and Mrs. Daisy G. Petrie and Mrs. Belle Cavin has been misunderstood. On June 2 the parties deposited a check with the Central Trust company in payment of a life insurance policy for $6,170, in which they had a joint and equal interest. He demands that the two sisters sign a check for the amount of $2,500.00 for his part and he offers to sign a like check for each of them. He alleges that they refuse to do so and the suit is to compel them to sign the check. The Central Trust company is not interested in the matter in any way.—Owensboro Inquirer.

Michigan's New Libel Law.

Gov. Warner of Michigan has signed a bill making an important change in the libel law of that state. It permits the defense to introduce evidence that the plaintiff has recovered damages previously for the publication of the same article or one citing the same statements. When persons finding themselves aggrieved by articles published in several newspapers go to bring suits to collect the wholesale in an attempt to collect an immense amount of damages, the bill permits the defendant newspaper to present such facts to the jury. The law will check wholesale litigation based upon some inadvertent misstatement in a news agency's dispatch.

The July Smart Set.

Gertrude Atherton never writes an uninteresting story. Her novel, "The Traveling Thirds," which opens the July Smart Set, is a particularly striking piece of work, full of brilliant dialogue and exquisite bits of description. The tale concerns the adventures of a party of Americans who travel through death third class, in order that they may come into close contact with the people of that country. The heroine, Catalina Shore, is as independent, as original, as refreshing as the author's famous "Patience Sparhawk." The love story in "The Traveling Thirds" is delightful, and the sensational denouement is one of the most dramatic scenes which Mrs. Atherton has ever written. The Smart Set has published a long line of novelettes which have lived a far greater length of time than the usual magazine story, but Mrs. Atherton's latest piece of fiction will even a more lasting measure of praise. The short stories in this number cover a wide field.

The Weather.

Washington, D. C., June 19—Generally fair and not so warm Tuesday.

Pirates attacked a village on the coast of Siberia and killed 150 natives.

Rear Admiral Sigbee's squadron sailed from New York Sunday for Cherbourg, France, to bring the body of Paul Jones to this country.

The walls of the new L. & N. depot are about ready for the upper joints of the second story of the office department of the building.

Eminent II, a Jersey bull, sold at T. S. Cooper's sale, Allentown, Pa., to Geo. E. Fear, Rochester, N. Y., for $10,000. This is the record price for Jersey cattle.

Gen. Maximo Gomez, the Washington of Cuba, is dead at Havana and the Spanish Club is joining with the Cuban government in mourning the death of the brave old patriot, who declined the presidency.

A "rough house" was started on a negro excursion train near Griffin, Ga., and when the smoke of pistol shot had cleared away eleven negroes were dead in the car.

The little flurry between France and Germany over the Morocco question will not cause trouble. Explanations have been made and France has received Germany's assurance that no offense was intended by the proposed plan of an international conference.

John P. Fuls, who was elected county attorney of Jefferson county in the Republican landslide of 1894, was drowned in British Columbia last week by the upsetting of a canoe. Six other men were drowned. Fuls went to Alaska in 1898.

The examining trial of James and Alex Harris and Fult French, before Magistrate Allen, in Jackson, for alleged complicity in the Marcum murder, was a farce. After allowing the defendants to personally question Mrs. Marcum for two days, their interrogations at times being taunting, the magistrate dismissed the charges. County Attorney Blanton told Allen that the proceedings were a farce and left the court room, telling the magistrate to take his court and go to the devil.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (not Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

GONE TO KNOXVILLE

Six Young Lady Teachers Preparing For Work.

The following named young ladies left for Knoxville Tenn., yesterday to take a course of study in the normal school at Tennessee University to more thoroughly qualify themselves for their future work in the city public schools: Misses Lalla Dennis, Susie Cox, Mary Penn, Susie Garnett, Annie Ma Brasher and Margaret Knight. The latter named two are new teachers, having just been chosen at the last session of teachers.

AT MAMMOTH CAVE.

Kentucky Educational Association Will Meet There.

The approaching meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association at Mammoth Cave promises to be a record-breaker. The association convenes on Wednesday, June 21, and lasts three days. There will be large bodies of teachers from all adjoining states and an elaborate program has been arranged. Among the speakers will be: Gov. Beckham, of Kentucky; Dr. John W. Cook, of Illinois; Dr. H. G. Williams, of Ohio; State Supts. Carrington, of Missouri; Cotton, of Indiana; S. A. Mynders, of Tenn.; Hill, of Ala.; and Fuqua, of Ky. The characteristic feature of the meeting will be the organization of the teachers into a federation or union. The object of this union will be to place teaching on a professional basis; to remove the management of schools from the influence of politics, sectarianism and personalities; better schools and better equipment; longer terms and larger salaries. All railroads offer one and a third fares for the round trip. A number of teachers from this city and county will attend.

PROMINENT M. D.

Is Mysteriously Missing From His Home.

Clarksville, Tenn., June 17.—Dr. Joe Shemwell, a prominent physician of Bumpus Mill, in Stewart county, has created a sensation by his disappearance. He left home about two weeks ago and has never been heard from. He left telling his wife that he was going to Dawson Springs, but she received a letter from him several days afterward saying that he was going to leave the country, and maybe the United States. He told her he had made arrangements for her and her child to be cared for.

Upon investigation it was found that he had placed $5,000 to her credit in a bank at Dover. He was worth between $25,000 and $30,000, and is supposed to have that amount with him, less the money left his wife and child. He had evidently been preparing for his departure, as he had disposed of all his real estate and made other arrangements.

REVENUE AGENT

Nosing Into Records to Cause Taxpayers' Trouble.

B. F. Chambers, revenue agent representing Frank A. Lucas, of Paducah, was here last week inspecting mortgage records and gathering data for suits against the owners of all notes and mortgages over $300 not listed for taxation for the last five years. Suits will be filed against a large number of taxpayers for alleged back taxes.

The D. A. R. chapter made a nice little fund by their entertainment at Mrs. Dietrich's Friday afternoon and evening. Mrs. J. T. Wall as palmist and Mrs. Margaret Wormald as fortune-teller added to the fun as well as the funds. Brick ice cream in national colors and cake were served.

STARTLING FIGURES.

Foreign Immigration an Object Lesson to the South.

The following picture is from a recent editorial in the Memphis Commercial-Appeal, and while written from a different standpoint and for a different purpose than the one to which we will apply it, still it portrays conditions that should receive the most earnest thought of every loyal American citizen, wherever he may reside; but more especially do we commend it, with the lessons logically deducible therefrom to the press and the people of the south:

"This New North seems to have no regard for the law, for good government, for honest elections, for the rule of the people. Democracy has yielded to the boss. One hundred thousand illegal voters are admittedly registered by the republican machine in Philadelphia. The mob is cock of the walk in Chicago. The thieves are lords of the ascendant in Pittsburgh. Every citizen in Rhode Island gloriously is for sale. New Jersey is glorious in her corporate rottenness. New York is the rendezvous for official black and corporate plunder. And so it goes. The New North seems to be without virtues, without honesty and without any recognition whatever of the elemental principles of popular government."

We assume the entire correctness of this picture and give it as our strongest conviction that this deplorable state of affairs could exist in this country from only one cause, and that the lowering of our standard of citizenship through the indiscriminate admission of immigrants. Recent exposures of a secret agent of our government, sent to Europe for the purpose of investigating the character of the immigrants coming to this country, a Mr. Braun, show that we are receiving with the knowledge and connivance of foreign governments, their pauper and criminal classes.

This trusted agent of the government makes this as an official report to the president, and he further says that it has been and is now the practice of some of these governments to make it a condition with some criminals that they will be released if they will go to the United States. This agent also found an institution near Budapest from which pauper children were taken and placed under fictitious parents to be brought to this country at so much a head.

A still further fraud exists in the insurance of counterfeit naturalization papers, so that thousands come into the cities of the north and at once enter under the control of political ward bosses, who vote them in "job lots" for a money price. Does anyone wonder that corruption runs riot in these cities?

These census figures give the total number of immigrants that have come into this country up to the 1st of January in round numbers to be 23,000,000, or one-half of the present population of the northern, eastern and western states. In some of these the foreign born exceeds the native born population by from 200 to 400 per cent.

This has become so great a menace to the entire north-east and west that in consequence a cry has arisen from all portions that of these sections that "the south is not getting her share of these valuable accretions to our American population," and some of our southern friends have taken the bait, hook and all, and now the south is confronted with a menace from which they have hitherto been freed, and that through the agency of the much maligned negro. Let us see how we have fared under this discriminating (?) policy that has given the north all these immigrants and which the president of the negro has kept out of the south.

Let us take the census records for the twenty years ending with the last one or from 1880 to 1900, the balance of the country increased in agriculture 65 per cent., while the south increased in the same period 72 per cent. Manufactures increased in the rest of the country outside the south during this period 242 per cent., while the south increased 348 per cent. The increase in value of manufactured products during this period for the balance of the nation was 135 per cent., and for the south it was 219 per cent. By way of explanation of these startling figures the south has kept her population almost entirely intact, there being twice as many foreign born citizens in the state of Illinois as in the entire fourteen southern states combined.

What a tribute is this to the native American blood that flows so fully in the veins of the people of the south? What incentive exists in these figures to keep the population of the south free from the taint that is inevitable from the reception of indiscriminate classes of foreigners? The people of the south have made the proudest record vouchsafed to any in the world since the close of the civil war, and now as we stand on the threshold of greater things are we to have that proud record stained by admitting among us the "scum of Europe?"

This is the fact in store for us if our southern ports are opened to the reception of immigrants, as many are proposing. The north, aided and abetted by the commissioner of immigration, is very solicitous to have the south receive the vanguard hordes coming to our shores, but we must not permit it; not only must our own loved land of the south be kept for our children as pure as we can have it, but a cry should be heard from all over the south that will stay this tide of immigration that is demoralizing the north.

Surely the United States will not be content to become a mere penal colony for Europe. It rests largely on the south to save not only her own section from this menace and damning blight, but that of the rest of the country as well. No higher duty rests today on our country than the protection of her population, and we shall never be silent until this is done.—Chattanooga Tradesman.

Old Fiddlers.

The people of Pembroke will be given a rare treat again in the way of an Old Fiddler's Contest at the opera house Friday night, June 30. The best talent in Kentucky and Tennessee is being invited and it is expected to make the best ever held in Southern Kentucky. All old fiddlers (and young ones too), are most earnestly solicited to be present, whether personally invited or not. There will be a free for all contest, open to all alike. An excellent premium list is being prepared, so the game will be worth the candle. Next week will appear the names of many of the contestants. Popular prices will be charged. Net proceeds will go to the Library fund. The hearty co-operation of all is earnestly solicited. Committee.

Furious Fighting.

"For seven years," writes Geo. W. Hoffman, of Harper, Wash., "I had a bitter battle with chronic stomach and liver trouble, but at last I won, and cured my diseases, by the use of Electric Bitters. I unhesitatingly recommend them to all who do not intend in the future to be without them in the house. They are certainly a wonderful medicine, to have cured such a bad case as mine, under guarantee to do the same for you by R. C. Hardwick, druggist, at 50c a bottle. Try them today."

Hopkinsville broke even with Vincennes in the two games played here Friday and Saturday. The Browns won Friday's game by 3 to 2 in a hotly contested game of ten innings. The Vincennes battery was Boylan and Lemon. That for Hopkinsville, Perdus and Rutledge. The Vincennes scores were both made in the first inning, on a lost ball, which could not be found under a bunch of weeds under the right-field fence. The new umpire, Quinn, was at times very unfair to the local team in his decisions and was jeered unmercifully from the stand, but kept his temper.

Saturday's game with Dugan and Lemon, and Desmond and Rutledge, was one-sided from the start. Hopkinsville played with two crippled men. Bomar was hit on the right arm by a ball in practice and was almost disabled. His inability to handle the ball at shortstop caused two errors that let in scores. McAndrews, still with a very sore finger, played right field. The main trouble was that the batsmen could not hit Dugan's curves. He is Vincennes' best pitcher and has a puzzling throat agent of balls. It was a sore throat agent of balls. It was a sore throat agent of balls.

CAPT. GRAHAM'S GRAFUE

Suffered from Sores on Face and Back—Doctors Took His Money But Did No Good—Skin Now Looks Clear as a Baby's.

ANOTHER CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

Captain W. S. Graham, 1331 10th St., Wheeling, W. Va., writing June 14, '04, says: "I am so grateful I want to thank God that I found recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment to me. I suffered for a long time with sores on my face and back. Some doctors said I had blood poison, and others that I had barbers' itch. None of them did me any good, but they all took my money. My friends tell me my skin now looks as clear as a baby's, and I tell them all that Cuticura Soap and Ointment did it."

STILL ANOTHER CURE

Neck Covered With Sores, Hair Fell Out, Wild With Itching. Mr. H. T. Spalding of 104 W. 10th St., New York City, says: "For two years my neck was covered with sores, the disease spreading to my hair, which fell out leaving an unsightly bald spot, and the sores, inflammation, and merciless itching made me miserable. After a few applications of Cuticura the torment subsided, the sores disappeared, and my hair grew thick and healthy as ever."

AND STILL ANOTHER

"For over thirty years I suffered from painful ulcers and an eruption from my knees to my feet, and could find neither doctors nor medicines to help me, until I took Cuticura which cured me in six months. (signed) M. C. Moss, Gainesville, Tex."

was well played. The visitors, after making 6 scores, mostly on errors, were held down until Cooper put the ball over left field fence, making his 17th home run this season. The score was 0 to 0 in favor of Vincennes. The third game of the series was not played, but will be used in a double-header later.

Princeton Next.

The Princeton series began yesterday with Simpson in the box for Hopkinsville. There will be games today and tomorrow, and playing against one of the weaker teams we have a good chance to increase our percentage, which is still well above 30. The table in this column shows the standing up to Sunday.

Simpson, the pitcher who refused to sign two weeks ago, after winning a trial game, came back Saturday and played one inning in right field and muffed a fly. He pitched the game yesterday afternoon.

Barlow, who was ill last week, is up again, but not able to do good work yet.

Col. S. W. Wheeler, promoter of the Henderson team, is a candidate for police judge of Henderson.

SUDDEN DEATH OF AN AGED CITIZEN.

Mr. John Orr Dropped Dead On Street In Louisville.

CAME HERE IN 1853.

Burial Took Place At Hopewell Cemetery Sunday Morning.

Citizens generally were shocked Saturday morning when the bulletin board of the Kentuckian gave information of the sudden death of Mr. John Orr in Louisville Friday night.

Mr. Orr went to Louisville last Wednesday to visit his son, Mr. Gish Orr, and also to attend the meeting of the Confederate Veterans. He had made his arrangements to return home on the Friday night train, and was on his way to the home of his son to bid them farewell. He had gotten within less than a square of his son's home when he fell to the pavement unconscious. Neighbors of his son, on seeing him fall, went to his aid and notified the family at once, but when Mr. Orr reached his father he was almost gone, living only about eight minutes longer. His remains arrived here Saturday morning and were taken to his home at Clay and Sixth street.

A large number of his friends attended the funeral services Sunday morning at 9:30, which were conducted by his pastor, Rev. H. D. Smith, of the Christian church. His remains were interred in Hopewell Cemetery, in the lot adjoining that of the McCarty family.

In 1853 Mr. Orr, who was a carpenter by trade, came to Hopkinsville to work on the Western Kentucky Asylum, which was then in process of erection. The deceased was only 23 years of age at that time, being born Sept. 29, 1830, in Allegheny county, Pa. There were four other master mechanics who came here about the same time to work on the asylum, namely: R. C. Thurmond, William Skerritt, Samuel Salter and John Haydon. These five men became intimate friends, and after the completion of the asylum chose to make Hopkinsville their home. With the exception of Mr. Skerritt, they all married here and raised families. Mr. Orr was the last but one to pass away.

Mr. Orr was one of the best known and most highly esteemed of our citizens; as a man of the strictest integrity and able impetus his character stands above suspicion; as a Christian gentleman, freedom from taint with his contact with the world his life has been worthy of emulation. No one could say aught against him but all recognize that a pure man has gone to his reward.

He leaves a loving wife and four children to mourn his departure.—Mrs. Thos. L. Metcalfe, Miss Jessie Orr and Messrs. John W. and Gish Orr.

THE END OF IT.

Burley Tobacco Association Will Not Be Reorganized.

Lexington, Ky., June 18.—The efforts recently made by the Ways and Means Committee of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Company to form a plan whereby the association could be reorganized, and another move made to control the output of tobacco grown this year, and which have so far failed of success, it is said, will be abandoned and the defunct company will not be revived. This is said to be due to the fact that it was found impossible to get the growers of tobacco to again support the movement by pledging their crops to the company until a certain time, after which they were to be released from their contracts in case the company failed to raise the capital sufficient to finance the deal.

Paris Green Kills Boy.

Cadiz, Ky., June 16.—As a result of eating apples without washing his hands after having been sprinkling paris green on tobacco plants, a little son of Berry Hester, of this county, died. He was taken suddenly ill soon after eating the apples and was dead before the doctor arrived.

PEOPLE'S COLLEGE

SUCH IS THE HOME CULTURE CLUB OF NORTHAMPTON.

Started in This Northern Town by Well-Known Southerner—What Work Has Grown To Under Mr. George Cable.

In one of the fairest New England cities, Northampton, there has been quietly carried on for two years a movement that has resulted in bringing culture (the many lives that were lacking educational and social opportunities, a work that bestows much of the academic and social life of the college proper.

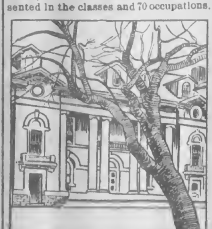

We speak of the Home Culture club, the idea that of Mr. George Cable. Mr. Cable is widely known as the author of those charming crole tales, but his zeal and success in line of social betterment have been mostly kept in the background. The recent Carnegie gift to the Home Club now brings this phase of the author's life into prominence.

When Mr. Cable moved north, he either acquired there, or else brought with him a store of inexhaustible energy, and the store he soon began to put at the service of others. In 1887 he organized the Home Culture club, the object the coming together of neighbors for study, discussion and recreation. Very shortly after this was organized, and then the question of reaching the young people employed in the mills was presented. A reading room was provided for them. In 1893, where they could come together to read or for social intercourse. The club spirit prevailed; the one reading room was twice enlarged, and finally a clubhouse was provided.

Not finally, either, for just now the Home Club are establishing themselves in the beautiful new quarters, the Carnegie house for the Home Clubs of Northampton. In this large clubhouse varied activities of the club life will be carried on; there is a concert room, and provision is made for dramatic entertainments, one of the features of the organization; a ballroom is no unimportant part, dancing a recreation looked upon with high favor by the promoters, the Saturday night dances considered one of the most attractive of the many attractive parts of the liberal program.

The aim is to reach People, people generally, old and young, rich and poor, cultured and those longing for culture, educated and uneducated, men and women, employed and unemployed. The scope is so wide one cannot begin to tell of the work accomplished, that planned. We shall speak of certain things that seem of especial value. The clubhouse extends welcome to its lounge-room of anyone, stranger or townman, to enter and rest. He may remain quiet, or he may take part in conversation; but this club is his club for the moment, a home where he may indulge the momentary mood. There is an employment bureau, where employed and unemployed come in touch. There are bowling alleys and billiard tables for those that desire to play and without games of tennis, football, many sports.

But we seem slow in getting to the study part of the Home Culture club. Teachers from the famous women's college situate in the town. Smith college, act as teachers; they and others from the city, giving their services to the classes. Wide is the range of subjects studied, and widely differing the students; there are 20 nationalities represented in the classes and 10 occupations.

CARNEGIE HOUSE OF HOME CULTURE CLUBS

One of the most interesting of the groups in the class of 40 Poles, taught by a priest. No narrow sectarianism has part in the Home Club labor.

The stranger will find in the friendly rivalry of home gardens, view evidence of the good done by some one taking it upon himself to be his brother's keeper, to be interested in other than purely personal affairs. Numerous Northampton cottages are bowers of beauty in the seasons that admit of blossom and leaf, and the rows of carefully kept garden roses, the trim lawns, the covering of sunlight with luxuriance of green growths, attest that the southerner who entered this northern mission field brought with him an ardent love for the beautiful.

A late addition to the club is the household arts department. Here to be studied home-making, home beautifying, the duties of wife and mother, all branches of domestic service.

Mr. Cable's club has been established in many communities. Surely a noble work; surely it takes away some of the reproach of modern indifference.

DISAPPOINTMENT.

"Lack never manages things just right," said the trisyllable man who disdains music. "It might just as well have been the other way around, but it wasn't."

"What's the trouble now?"
"My daughter who plays the piano has a sore throat and the one who sings a sore throat."—Washington Star.

GOT THE BANNERS.

Christian County Outplayed All of 'Em, Said Judges.

The Hopkinsville delegation of participants in the old fiddlers' contest at the Masonic theater, Louisville, two nights during the Consecutive Reunion, returned home Friday night. Prizes were offered only in the various contests scheduled to take place between Indiana and Kentucky performers and as the Hoosier fiddlers were not much in evidence, there were no contests between the States, and therefore, no prizes were awarded. There were nine counties of Kentucky represented during the entertainment and Christian county got the decision each night on playing in concert, also in quartet, duet and individual playing. Hart county came second and Scott third. Christian county was represented by T. E. Bartley, John M. Morris and W. F. Randle, also Tobe Morris, (with guitar), all of Hopkinsville, and Dr. G. W. Lackey, of Pembroke, I. H. Wicks, of Fruit Hill, and J. N. Sisk, of White Plains.
